Travelling to Lefkada

≫ By air

Flights from/ to Aktion airport

During the summer months there are direct flights to Aktion airport from several European cities.

How to get to Lefkada from Aktion airport (17km)

There is bus connection (route Lefkada-Preveza), as well as taxi available. You can also rent a car from one of the travel agencies at the airport.

Flights from Athens to Lefkada

From June until October, Aegean airlines launches a flight from Athens to Aktion Airport.

How to get to Lefkada from Athens International Airport by car, coach or taxi

There are several car rental companies operating at the Athens International Airport. If you fly to Athens there is a bus X93 (formerly E93 by OASA company) connecting the Eleftherios Venizelos Airport (door 5) with Teminal A, the Athenian bus terminal at Kifisos.

There are 4 departures daily from Athens by coach (KTEL of Lefkada).

Otherwise you can take a taxi from the airport. This costs approximately 400 euros for 4 persons (one way).

By car

Lefkada is the only island accessible by car, without the cost of a ferry. It is connected to the Akarnanian mainland by a floating pontoon for a constant flow of vehicle traffic, and is also a swinging bridge.

If you are driving from Central Europe to Lefkada via Italy you have 4 options

Option 1: Drive your car to Ancona and then catch the ferry boat to Igoumenitsa (trip duration: 16 hours). Then you have to drive from Igoumenitsa to Lefkada (110 km).

Option 2: Drive your car to Brindisi and then catch the ferry boat to Igoumenitsa (trip duration varies from 7hrs 30min to 10hrs depending on the ferry operations). Then you have to drive from Igoumenitsa to Lefkada.

Option 3: Drive your car to Bari and then catch the ferry boat to Igoumenitsa (trip duration varies from 8hrs 30min to 12hrs 30min). Then you have to drive from Igoumenitsa to Lefkada.

Option 4: Drive your car to Venice and then catch the ferry boat to Igoumenitsa (trip duration varies from 25hrs to 28hrs 30min). Then you have to drive from Igoumenitsa to Lefkada.

If you are driving from the Balkans to Lefkada

You have to drive to Northern Greece and then take the newly constructed Egnatia Motorway until Ioannina. When you reach Ioannina you head to Preveza and then through the Aktio-Preveza undersea tunnel. After 20km you will reach your destination.

≫ By bus

There are 4 departures daily from/to Athens (5 hours) by coach (KTEL of Lefkada) and twice weekly from/to Thessaloniki (4.40 hrs). There are also regular itineraries from/to Igoumenitsa (1hr and half) and also two scheduled trips from/to Patra (2 hrs and half).

By sea

Coastal link with Lefkada is not directly possible. The visitors can be assisted through the port of Igoumenitsa and then continue by road (95 km away). Alternatively there is the port of Patra (distance 176 km).

Family holidays

>> EASY ACCESS

To visit Lefkada you don't have to go through the hassle of taking the ferry boat, since it is the only island in Greece which can be reached with the ease and comfort of your car.

ACCOMMODATION

Many hotels, villas and rooms to rent in Lefkada offer green open spaces where your children can play safely, swimming pools for kids as well as playgrounds.

>> F00D

In many tavernas and restaurants you will find big green open spaces as well as seats for small children. If you want to combine swimming in the beach with a meal right after, you can choose a beach bar with an outdoor space that offers comfort and lots of fun for the kids.

TAKE A WALK

Wonder around in the cobbled streets of the town, in the small paved alleys, see the beautiful quaint houses and make a stop to enjoy a refreshing cold drink or a dessert in the square where the kids can

>> OASIS FOR THE KIDS

Lefkada has many public playgrounds for the entertainment of its young visitors. The most popular ones are located in D. Golemi St., in the marina and the Lakis Sandas square.

>> SWIMMING

The east side beaches (Lygia, Nikiana, Nydri and Vassiliki) are ideal for family swimming because their waters are calm, without waves and children of all ages can have hours of carefree fun both inside and outside of the sea. We also recommend you to visit the golden beach of Agios Nikitas which is very well protected from the wind. You can also swim without any worries in the turquoise waters of the beaches next to the town of Lekada (Kastro, Gyra and Ai Giannis) which are not too deep and normally don't get very crowded, especially during the morning hours.

The beaches of the west side are without a doubt in the spotlight during the summer season (Kathisma, Porto Katsiki, Egremnoi, etc.). However, you should be extra careful because the waters there are deep and should be avoided when there are lots of waves. Many beaches in Lefkada have umbrellas, sunbeds and canteens which offer snacks and juices.

Safe Water Sports: Download the free application to find the water sports businesses that are licensed and have all the necessary safety certifications.

Worth seeing

TOP THINGS TO SEE AND DO IN LEEKADA TOWN

THE ARCHAEOLOGICAL MUSEUM

It is a small but important museum, whose findings date from the Middle Paleolithic Age up to Roman Years. There is a separate room exhibiting the findings of Schliemann's assistant, the German archaeologist Wilhelm Dörpfeld.

2 LEFKADA'S PUBLIC LIBRARY

Printed material of all sorts has been collected here: books, periodicals, newspapers, older and newer editions, as well as a rich collection of Post Byzantine icons, mainly in the Ionian Islands' style.

3 THE CASTLE OF AGIA MAVRA

At the entrance to Lefkada town the castle of Agia Mavra stands proudly, a model of fortification architecture of the Middle Ages, with a central core in the shape of an irregular heptagon reinforced at its seven corners with bastions and three external ramparts. It protected the capital from the first decade of the fourteenth century until 1684.

4 ANGELOS SIKELIANOS MUSEUM

The originality of this museum is that it does not only exhibit rare manuscripts, books and objects of his life but by highlighting the different phases of his literary life, it represents Sikelianos as a creator.

5 THE CHURCHES

Some of Lefkada's best features are its churches. They include basilicas, with the influence of Venetian architecture, usually adorned with iconography in the traditional Ionian, post-Cretan devotional style and with beautifully sculpted wooden iconostases, some in gold leaf.

ORFEAS MUSEUM OF FOLKLORE

It exhibits more than a thousand functional objects of Lefkada's farm life, tools of old crafts as well as traditional costumes, embroideries, etc.

If you love literature and history, don't miss the chance to visit the Lafcadio Hearn Historical Centre

LEFKADA'S MARINA

It is a town within the town of Lefkada with canals and bridges, and its own life. It has bars and restaurants and other types of activities. A walk around this place is always interesting.

The streets of Lefkada town

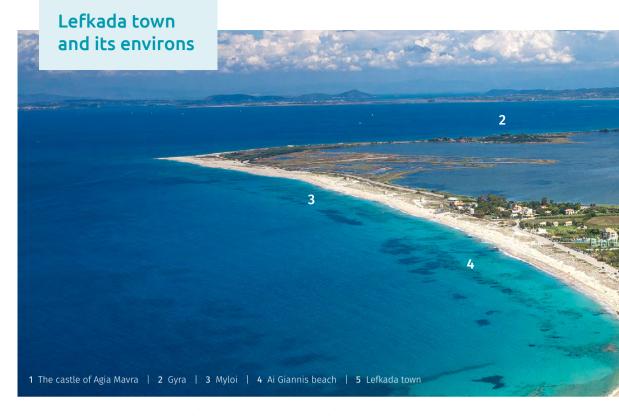

A walk to the Castle of Agia Mavra, Gyra and Ai Giannis

A very pleasant stroll starting out from the town of Lefkada is round the western lagoon, the walk of Gyra ending at Ai Giannis beach. It is 7 km long and the great attraction is that all along the views are exceptional, a pleasure for nature-lovers. The lagoon and the town lie to the east and to the west the vast stretch of the Ionian Sea. At a distance of 1200 m. from town we can make a visit to the Castle of Agia Mavra.

At Ai Giannis

Four windmills, on the right, still survive out of the twelve that once stood there. Nature has granted Vassiliki and Ai Giannis perfect 'air fans': a breeze blowing at about one o'clock in the middle of every day during the hot months of the year, ideal conditions for enthusiasts of windsurfing and kitesurfing.

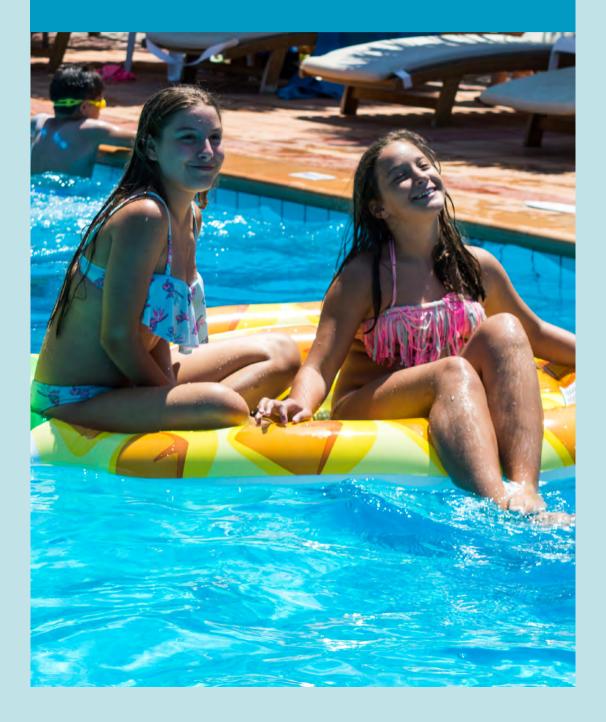

Ai Giannis (Agios Ioannis) is a marvellous beach. It is a joy to swim in clear emerald waters looking at the mountain enfolding Lefkada town, covered in every shade of green: cypress and olive trees and broom. There are taverns and cafes all along the beach to sit at after a swim.

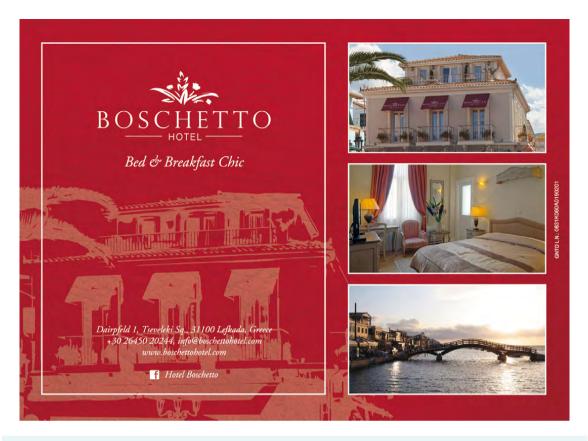

Accommodation

The island of Lefkada, oriented towards milder forms of tourism, has a great selection of accommodation offers according to your aesthetic preferences and your financial planning. For a hassle-free holiday in Lefkada make your booking in advance especially if you are planning to travel during the peak season (15 July – 15 August).

THE INTERNATIONAL FOLKLORE FESTIVAL

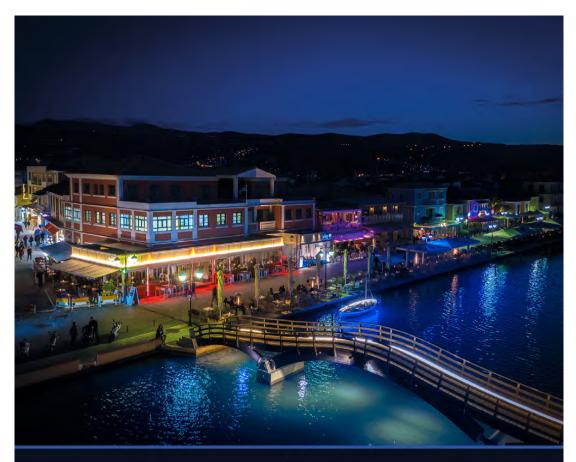

The International Folklore Festival is well known all over Greece and many of the world's countries. It takes place in the last week of August. After the inauguration ceremony in Lefkada town there is the appearance of dance and music groups. It closes with a special ceremony and the Dance of Peace. It is thanks to the festival that significant artists have performed in Lefkada; the great Maria Callas, in 1964, made an unscheduled appearance in the town's square, in what was to be her last live performance in Greece.

The summer season is made for cocktails and partying. In Lefkada you will find cozy cocktail bars where skilled bartenders will serve you some exceptional and intoxicating cocktails, classics or spiced up ones, with fresh seasonal ingredients that will make your nights in the island very interesting. The intense nightlife is surely one of the many faces of the island. Enjoy!

INNER IONIAN SEA ARCHIPELAGO: IDEAL FOR BOAT RIDES AND SAILING

The sea area between Lefkada, Ithaki and the opposite mainland coast is considered by experts ideal for boat rides and sailing. This is due to the safe navigation it provides, as there is no extreme weather, and the great variety of sheltered moorings in picturesque bays, harbours and quiet beaches on many scattered islands. The inhabited islands are Meganissi, Kalamos and Kastos. Madouri, Skorpios, Atokos are privately owned. The rest of the islands are very small and uninhabited. The coasts of this area are dotted with a great number of underwater and sea caves, which form an ideal habitat for seals (monachus monachus).

Starting point for all sailing expeditions is the town of Lefkada, on the hand due to the area's general interest, and on the other, because it boasts of one of the most modern marinas in Greece. As an alternative, you can start sailing from the marinas of Preveza and Paleros, which as Lefkada, are served by Aktion airport, as well as by port of Igoumenitsa which is the second gate of entry to the country from abroad.

Did you know?

syvota. According to Dorpfeld's theory, this is where Odysseus landed on his return home

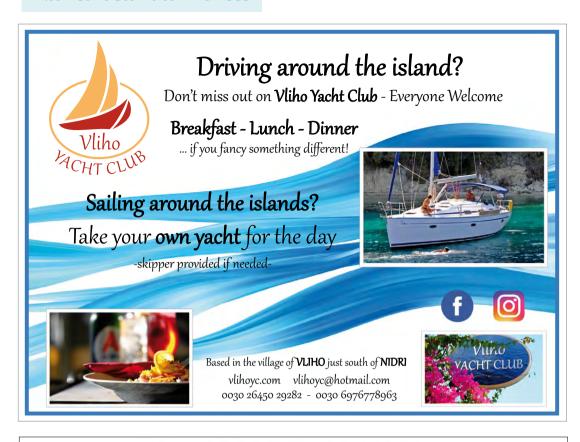

Some of the Lefkada's harbours and bays which are worth visiting by boat are the following: Nydri, Vlycho bay, Dessimi bay, Mikros Gialos, Syvota, Agiofylli, Vassiliki bay.

Sailing around the impressive Cape Lefkatas, visit some of the most famous beaches such as: Porto Katsiki, Egremnoi and Megali Petra. No matter how calm the sea is on the western side, you shouldn't spend the night there because weather can change suddenly.

Most of the island's anchorages are on the northern coast, while there are quite a few on the east coast as well. The south coast is rocky and steep, with very deep waters. The west coast is particularly exposed to northwest winds that blow in the afternoon; however, you can anchor at the beaches near Thileia island, and also at the north-western end opposite Kithros islet with its interesting beach named "Beretta".

The small bays which are protected from all sides at the northeast, are ideal and from there you can visit the island's villages on foot. In Spartochori, Vathy and Katomeri you will find all you need. You just need to be careful only when entering the small harbor of Atherinos, on the reef of the right as you come in.

Tip: Dangers! The Cheiromitis Shoal, near the imaginary line connecting the southwestern edge of Skorpios island to the northernmost tip of Meganissi island. Be extremely careful because this reef emerges suddenly and depth sounders are not helping.

Kalligoni Karvotes

The east side is predominantly green with tranquil landscapes and calm seas. Setting out from Lefkada town in the direction of Nvdri. is the community of Kalligoni, built on the site of ancient Nirikos. the island's first capital from antiquity to the 13th century AD, when it was given the name of Lefkada There are still clear traces of the enormous masonry blocks of the Cyclopean wall at the site called Koulmos and the remains of houses the aqueduct, water reservoirs and vaults. Karyotes is the next village along the route. It was built in its present location in the 50s. and before then stood higher on the hill up above. The ruins are still there. Archaeologists have recently uncovered the ruins of an almost unknown ancient Greek theater in the area of Koulmos hill. Little is known so far about the sizeable theater but we will learn more in the future as the excavations continue

Hotel Alkyon

Alkyon Hotel is an apartment complex built in the traditional fishing village of Lygia, on the island of Lefkas. It consists of 6 studio apartments, 8 two-room apartments and 2 separate three-storey villas. Each studio/apartment/villa has its own style and is decorated with handmade furnishings, wooden ceilings and has spacious balconies. Alkyon can accommodate up to 50 people. Lygia, port

Did you know?

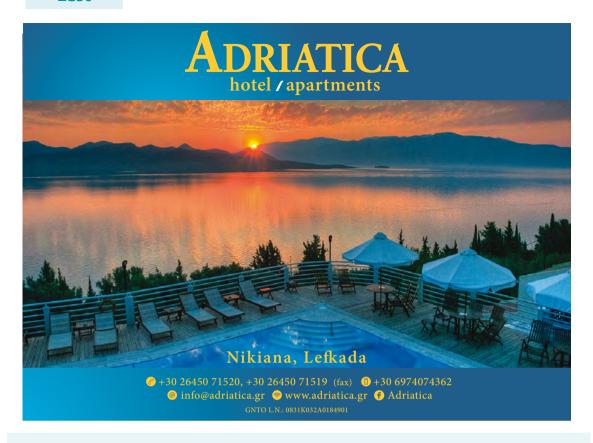

It is worth making a detour from Karyotes area towards the Alexander's Salt Marsh to see the remains of the old salt works which were particularly important to the economy of Lefkada in the past. The scenery here is interesting and unusual.

Katouna, Lygia, Episkopos, Nikiana, Perigiali

Moving south from Karvotes, you come to the picture-perfect harbour of Lygia, the outlet to the sea of the mountain village of Katouna. It is one of Western Greece's most important fish-wharfs. Nowadays, besides fishing and farming, the inhabitants find a lot of employment in the tourist sector and there is a number of newlybuilt hotels, rooms to let and seafront taverns serving fresh fish and a variety of other dishes.

The beaches of the eastern side begin just after the picturesque harbour of Lygia which is 6 km from Lefkada town. As far as Nydri you will find countless and guiet beach spots. The scenery is striking, especially in the Nikiana area and the greenery reaches almost to the water's edge. There are restaurants and lodgings all along the coastline.

The waterfalls of Dimossari

The landscape here has been hymned by Aristotelis Valaoritis, who admired it from the little island opposite, Madouri. A path of beauty and freshness will take you to the waterfalls very near Nydri in a glory of greenery.

Digenis Studios

Digenis Studios is located, at the seaside village of Lygia, only 5 km from Lefkada town. It is an organized, family business, which in recent years, has been accommodating people in its spacious and comfortable apartments. Located 300m from the sea and away from the noisy roads, it is the ideal place for relaxing holidays. Digenis Studios can be the perfect base, to discover the magnificent island of Lefkada.

Nydri is the most cosmopolitan part of the island. Once a quaint fishing village, it is today the destination of most tourists for their stay. In front of it is the bay of Vlycho with the many islands for which it is known, and mountain Elati forms the backdrop. The church of Ai Lias is to the south, and the Skaroi hills are to the north. There is a choice of modern hotels, rooms to let, restaurants and bars and organized summer sea sports and sailing, visits to the islets just offshore, as well as trips to the islands of Ithaca and Kefallonia. The Pringkiponisia rise out of the bay in front of Nydri, the 'Prince islands', shoulder to shoulder, and with the promontory of Agia Kyriaki forming an archipelago something like a fjord. They are certainly worth a visit.

Wilhelm Dörpfeld (1853 - 1940): Architect - Archaeologist

He carried out excavations in Olympia and in many other areas of archaeological interest in Greece. He worked together with his compatriot Heinrich Schliemann at the excavations of Troy and Tiryns. In later life he maintained the theory that Lefkada is Homer's Ithaca. To support his claim, he drew on geographic observations and findings from excavations, mainly from the area of Nydri, writing the work Alt Ithaka on the subject. His theory is rejected by some and accepted by others, one of his supporters being the known contemporary French Homeric scholar E. Miraux. Dörpfeld is buried on the promontory of Agia Kyriaki on a hillock which he himself had named Lofos ton Nymfon (Nymphs' Hill).

Meganissi, Kalamos, Kastos, Skorpios

Lefkada's small islands

All these islands have splendid beaches, small harbours for mooring and hamlets in the style of the 60s. Meganissi is one of Lefkada's larger islands and has an enticing lacework-like coastline, crystal waters, pure greenery and three picturesque villages. The configuration of Kalamos is an unusual mixture of vegetation and rocky outcrops. Kastos is characterized by low hills, indented coastline and olive trees. Skorpios is the most popular island of Lefkada and perhaps even Greece due to its owners, the Onassis Family and recently the Russian tycoon Rybolovlev.

Mikros Gialos

Sivota

Mikros Gialos Sivota Ammouso

Below Poros village, on the road to the sea, there is the pretty little beach of Mikros Gialos, a peaceful and attractive beach with pebbles where the sea is unpolluted, in sheltered Rouda Bay. Being an organized beach, it is on the top of the visitor's list.

On the main road, some 6 km from Poros, a road goes down to the sea and to Sivota. This enchanting village is built right on the shore in the embrace of green hills. It offers mooring and refuelling for many boats and a rest for the crews. According to Dörpfeld's theory, this is where Odysseus landed on his return home. Today it offers some of the island's best known fish tavernas serving delicious fresh fish, lobster and seafood.

Ammousa or Ammouso:

Close to Vassiliki. You get there by a detour of the main road after Marantochori. It is small, with pebbles and there is a taverna and a cafe with a nearby camping site.

Vassiliki

Vassiliki is a magnet for tourists for its beautifully clean beaches, the greenery crowding right down to the pretty houses of the harbour, organized hotel complexes and rooms to let for tourists, camping, tavernas and nightlife.

It also enjoys the advantage of cool currents making it one of the best seas in the world for windsurfing.

It is a good place for a stopover, for a meal, a swim (it is worth taking the boat to Agiofylli, a super beach) or a cup of coffee by the sea. Remains have been found on the plain of Vassiliki indicating the existence of an ancient city. The plain of Vassiliki is ideal for bicycle tours and hikes.

There are ferries to Ithaca and Kefallonia or small boats to beaches in the vicinity and Cape Lefkatas.

Did you know?

For nearly 30 years Vassiliki has been home to some of the top sailing and windsurfing holiday companies and centres in the world, and it is on the back of this reputation for watersports excellence that has seen Vassiliki grow from a very sleepy fishing village into one of the best loved and most returned to spots on the island.

Lefkada, the 'white island' by its name, is in fact very green. This is also the first impression of Lefkada: from its coasts to the summits of its mountains, it is covered in rich flora.

Beginning from the west coast, where the pine trees reach down to the sandy beach, we find the sea lilies, a rare species protected in other countries.

Climbing the mountain slopes we are bemused by the odorous pine and cypress trees. In Athani, rosemary, thyme and oleander mingle with the conifers and olive trees.

On the mountainsides facing Nydri and Skorpios, and up to Vassiliki, sage is the dominant plant with its pervasive odour. The thickets and ravines of Lefkada are a mass of pournari – holm oak, hawthorn and the cypress trees, tree medic and Judas trees.

At the start of spring and on Nikiana's ascents towards Agioi Pateres, blue iris makes an appearance, under the myrtle and the wild mastic trees and the terebinth trees. In autumn the latter wear their red and yellow leaves making the moody season more cheery.

Lefkada's trees are a world of their own, with their own history, since once upon a time the land was intensively cultivated. From Nydri to Vassiliki lemon and orange trees shade large expanses.

7 things you may not know about Lefkada

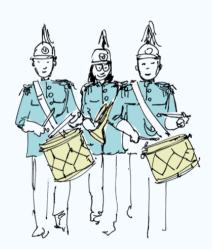

1 ISLAND OF POETS

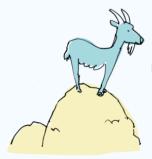

Lefkada has multiple names but none as appealing as 'the island of poets'. The name stems from the famous poets and writers who have been born or lived in the island such as Valaoritis, Sikelianos, Malamou-Dipla, Golemis, Hearn etc. In Lefkada you will discover the amazing landscapes that inspired the poets and you can satisfy you cultural curiosity by visiting the Angelos Sikelianos museum and the Lafcadio Hearn Historical Centre.

LEFKADIANS WERE BORN WITH MUSICAL BLOOD RUNNING THROUGH THEIR VEINS

Due to the cultural contact with Italy, Lefkada has a rich musical heritage. Actually, Lefkada's Philharmonic Orchestra is Greece's second oldest philharmonic after Corfu's. In Lefkada there is at least one musician in every family and that makes sense as there are several music associations and orchestras despite the fact that Lefkada is just a small island.

3 PORTO KATSIKI MFANS GOAT

Porto Katsiki is in the top of the list of the best beaches in Europe and one of the island's major attractions but did you know that katsiki in greek means goat? Porto Katsiki gets its name from the beloved animal because formely only goats could reach this area.

SAPPHO THE FAMOUS ARCHAIC GREEK POETESS COMMITTED SUICIDE IN LEEKADA

Legend connects the Cape Lefkata or Nira to stories of redemption from unfulfilled love; most famously the lyric poetess Sappho threw herself off the cliffs here to be liberated from her unrequited love for Phaon. Despite the sad tale, you should definetely visit the Cape Lefkata because the view from this spot is just amazing.

WAS LEFKADA THE HOME OF ODYSSEUS?

The German archaelogist W. Dorpfeld claims that Lefkada is the Homeric Ithaki. His theory is based on geographical indications and excavation findings mainly in Nydri area. When in Nydri, you can visit one of the excavation sites

6 YOU CAN COME HERE BY CAR

It may sound strange, but it's true. Lefkada is the only island accessible by car, without the cost of a ferry; a floating bridge connects it to the mainland with traffic flowing uninterrupted.

🕖 LEEKADA HAS A UNIQUE ARCHITECTURE

Lefkada is a town of incredible architecture built, rich with colourful details and inspiring places. The distinctive architecture of the city is owed to the cultural heritage of the Venetian conquerors and the intense seismic activity of the region. Take the time to stroll around Lefkada so as to admire the colourful buildings.

Faneromeni Tsoukalades Pefkoulia

Starting out from Lefkada town, follow the signs to Agios Nikitas village, passing the monastery of Panagia Faneromeni, the 'Island's Palladium'. There is an exceptional view to be enjoyed to the right.

You reach the village of Tsoukalades, built on a height and hemmed in by olive trees. There are gorgeous views from there of the Ionian Sea from a number of different angles.

Continuing along the asphalt road, a few kilometres further on there is a breathtaking sight of the vast Ionian Sea.

The first beach on the route is one of the best: Pefkoulia. Here the pine trees descend down the slopes all the way to the seashore. The sea is wonderfully clear and the strand is of fine, rice-like grains as on almost all the beaches on Lefkada's west coast, a caress for bare feet and easily flicked off the skin.

Agios Nikitas, Mylos

A few kilometres further on is Agios Nikitas, listed as a village of the national heritage. It has attractive stone-built houses, shouldering one another with their roofs almost touching, not only because of limited space but also facilitating escape in case of the pirate raids of the past. Despite the unavoidable additional buildings in the surrounding area, the village preserves its charm. The sea that laps the seafront is crystal-clean and is a joy to swim in, with the added enjoyment of its setting amid enchanting scenery.

From Agios Nikitas there is the shuttle service of a water taxi departing from the water-front to the next beach, Mylos, considered by some one of the two loveliest of the island. Its rather difficult access has saved it from the crowds and its endless stretches of immaculate beach and waters can be enjoyed with plenty of space from other bathers.

Mountainous Lefkada has a vivid traditional character and is the perfect choice for nature lovers. The picturesque stone-built houses and the ceaseless variety of nature in the villages that form the region of Sfakiotes, enchant visitors from the first glance. In Karya, the traditional head village, huge centuries-old plane trees surround the charming square, which during the summer months is full of life. Drymonas, Exantheia and Chortata are rightly described as "the Ionian balcony", since the panoramic sea view captivates the visitor with its imposing presence.

Local Products

Famous and unique products of Lefkada

The most famous products of Lefkada are Englouvi's lentils, thyme honey from Athani, sausages and wine. Also interesting are the local pies as well as mantolato and pasteli which used to be a specialty of the barbers! Ivari has excellent quality avgotaracho (roe) despite the fact that these are produced in small quantities. Also famous is the embroidery of Lefkada and the remarkable "Karsaniki" stitch which doesn't exist elsewhere in Greece.

In the villages pies are ubiquitous and easily made. In addition to the vegetable pie with aromatic wild greens, also worthy of note are the rice pie, pasta pie made with eggs and milk, olive oil and cheese, as well as the 'briani', pie made with thick green courgettes.

Englouvi's lentils is an extremely rare and delicious variety that has been awarded in several agricultural product exhibitions.

Lefkadian salami with its mild aroma of garlic and with whole peppercorns has been exported since olden times.

The most reclaimed, traditional wine varieties that grow in Lefkada is Vertzami and Vardea. Grown on the municipal units of Sfakiotes, Karya, Apollon and Ellomenos at an altitude of 200 to 700 meters and considered among the best varieties our country produces. In recent years, thanks to the tourism development in Lefkada, young winemakers with expertise and modern facilities undertook the task to highlight the local wine varieties, even succeeding special awards at wine fairs.

A visit to a winery is a real journey into the world of wine. The tour begins with the exhibition of vintage wine-making tools. Later on passing through the vineyard, visitors will be introduced to the wine-making and production space, where they can see up close all the processes (vinification, aging, bottling). Finally the tour ends in the tasting area, where visitors can taste and purchase the wines of the winery.

Find the house of your dreams in Lefkada

If spending your vacations in Lefkada is not enough and you feel that this is the place where you belong and you are ready to face all the challenges of living in a small place then be welcome! You are a person of great courage and endurance, someone who knows what is best and is ready to go after it. From now on a great adventure will start! Maybe you will ask yourself a couple of times why you did it but be sure that by the end it is all worth it. A piece of advice from us: trust your instinct.

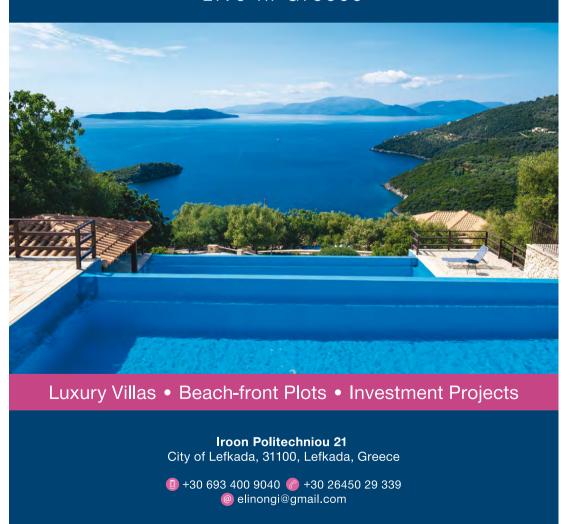

There is by now a considerable colony of Europeans from other countries, most of them having chosen to live on the island permanently. Some have businesses of their own or are employed in island businesses, others are pensioners who enjoy its beauties to the full.

It is well known that celebrities from the world of the arts, fashion and business have invested in the purchase of a home, all over the extent of Lefkada's territory.

The current economic crisis in Greece enables opportunities for the acquisition of moderately priced property, as opposed to former years. The value of real estate is estimated to have fallen some 30 percent.

Cuttlefish in their ink. cooked with rice

Ingredients:

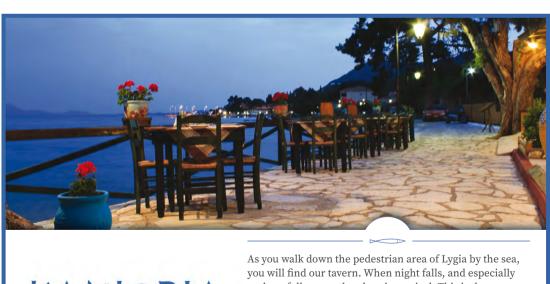

1 kg cuttlefish 1 medium-sized grated onion 150 ml olive oil Very little salt Lots of black pepper 1 wineglass white wine 1 glass white rice

Tina Webb

Preparation:

Wash the cuttlefish thoroughly and cut them into pieces. Heat the olive oil and lightly sauté the onion. Add the cuttlefish and sauté all together. Pour the wine over and add the ink (the whole quantity or less if you don't want the dish to be too black). Add some water, pepper and a minimum of salt and cook until the cuttlefish are almost soft and left with their sauce. Then add the rest of the olive oil and three cups boiling water, and when it comes to a boil add the rice, well rinsed in a colander. Stir, add some salt for the rice, and boil for 13-14 minutes. Check for salt and serve immediately.

The jewels of the south-west side

From Athani, the last stop has to be Cape Lefkatas or Kavos tis Nyras or Kavos tis Kyras. The landscape takes your breath away. Sheer cliffs and bottomless, raging seas create scenery of unimaginable wildness. They say that it is these white cliffs that gave Lefkada its name (lefko = white).

Did you know?

That the most fantastic view is from a spot shortly before arriving at the destination: just before the lighthouse there is a stretch of scree on the right. Climbing up herewith care brings you to a sight that literally takes your breath away.

Be adventurous in Lefkada!

The island has become known because of its famous beaches that are considered the best in the Mediterranean sea. Few people know that the island has a rich and variable life that makes it ideal for alternative tourism. Try hiking, mountain biking, archery and even horse-riding. If you consider yourself a daredevil do not miss the chance of enjoying the island's beauty from up high through paragliding.

Enjoy paragliding

These are flights with a double parachute and an experienced pilot. It is a marvellous experience, ending with a spectacular landing at Kathisma beach.

Dive & admire

Lefkada is one of the best and most rewarding diving destinations in Greece. The stunning bottom topography will amaze all levels of divers. Walls, drop offs, caves and caverns are some of the underwater landscapes of the area. Lefkada is characterized as a Natura 2000 protected area and its typical Mediterranean temperate reefs are full of life and rich in marine biodiversity. If you are planning to visit Lefkada, you shall not miss the opportunity to go diving in the crystal clear blue water at the south and east side of the Island.
